Carbon monoxide (CO) is a colorless and odorless poisonous gas, produced when an inadequate supply of air causes the faulty burning of a fuel like oil, coal, kerosene, gas or wood. Natural gas is colorless, odorless and tasteless. Mercaptan (a chemical that smells like sulfur/rotten eggs) is often added to give natural gas a distinct unpleasant odor that serves as a safety measure to help detect leaks in natural gas pipelines. Although rare, a build-up of either of these gases in your home can be dangerous and potentially fatal. Help protect yourself and your family with this Universal CO and natural gas alarm.

*Units will only be shipped to addresses within our service territory.
